Kolektiv Ateliers works with world-renowned designers and architects to craft bespoke lighting installations for prestigious interiors. Their expertise spans grand chandeliers, sculptural compositions, and tailor-made pieces that transform spaces into works of art.

At the core of their work is a deep bond with traditional glassmaking techniques passed down through generations. The finest artisans shape and refine glass with precision, honoring time-tested methods while embracing modern aesthetics.

Their projects illuminate exclusive hotels, private residences, and commercial spaces worldwide. The brand is known for pushing boundaries – combining crystal clarity, fluid forms, and dynamic lighting effects. Each piece becomes a statement of elegance and innovation.

With a legacy of excellence and a passion for artistic expression, Kolektiv Ateliers continues to set new standards in luxury design, celebrating the enduring beauty of glass.

This bespoke installation was conceived by Marie Soliman for Bergman Design House, in collaboration with Kolektiv Ateliers. Polka Dot & Tethys Collection

Founded in 1794 by Prince Alois I of Liechtenstein, Květná Glassworks is one of the oldest continuously operating glass factories in the Czech Republic.

Originally focused on sheet glass, it was transformed in the mid-19th century into a fine crystal specialist, gaining European renown with products reaching every corner of the world.

Today, Květná Glassworks is a symbol of quality and elegance. Its handmade pieces are celebrated for the widest range of 16 colour shades in Europe, delicate craftsmanship and exceptional durability, thanks to a unique titanium blend.

Each piece is a handmade original, crafted by master artisans who pour their skill, experience and passion into every creation.

Haoto Collection, designed by Japanese architect Kengo Kuma. Clean cylindrical shapes & a unique detail: a delicate imprint of leaf veins on the bottom of each piece.

Desidère Vase and Yra Collections by Klára Janypková & Tomáš Kučera honour Květná's master glassmaking and highlight the colours and optical decors of each piece.

Fuchs Collection, revived from the glassworks archive, was designed in 1935 by the renowned Czech functionalist architect Bohuslav Fuchs.

LD Seating

LD Seating is a family-run business from Boskovice, Czech Republic. It is dedicated to crafting seating that is backed by tradition, creativity, and the drive to make something meaningful for future generations.

For over three decades, LD Seating has grown through innovation and expertise, continually redefining the possibilities of design and craftsmanship.

Terra Lounge is built on three guiding principles: comfort, design and sustainability. Generous padding and a unique foam construction create a deeply comfortable seating experience.

Flexi Lounge features a soft foam shell that keeps you comfortable even when you're seated for an extended time.

Flexi Light is a designer conference chair built for lasting comfort. Featuring a clever mechanism in its slim backrest, it provides flexibility in the upper back to keep you supported through meetings.

The whole Aura Collection was inspired by the aurora borealis and the icy landscape of the north. Moser’s Creative Director selected cool tones for the collection of glossy Aura vases. “The north is associated with winter. And that coolness should be felt in the colours, which is why I chose green oceanite and blue,” explains Jan Plecháč. The cutters require an impeccable feel for the material when cutting these vases. That’s because they can’t see inside the closed, dark-blue neck, which forces them to accurately estimate the depth of the molten glass.

Moser

SINCE 1857

Moser Glassworks globally represents the finest of Czech glassmaking tradition and is part of the prestigious French association of luxury brands, COMITÉ COLBERT. The crystal products created here are characterised by craftsmanship precision, original design, and unique colours, which remain carefully guarded secrets of the glassworks.

The brand was founded in 1857 by the outstanding engraver Ludwig Moser. From the beginning, the glassworks has used lead-free crystal, a high-quality type of glass known for its hardness and clarity. Royal families have favoured their luxurious drinking sets, while masterful engravings are sought after by collectors worldwide.

Moser has always employed the best glassblowers, cutters, engravers, and designers. They proudly preserve their ancestors’ legacy and pass their art to future generations. Everything is still handmade using traditional glassmaking techniques so unique that they have been inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List.

The Magnus Collection works with colours using a method unlike any other. An impressive effect is achieved via the technique of injected underlaying.

The Abyss Collection shows the contrast between the pressure of the depths and the meditative lightness that diving provides, underscored by the brutalist edges and rotund core.

The Pear vase features precisely cut edges that create a strict and refined appearance. As all Moser glassworks pieces are made exclusively by hand, variations in colour shades are a natural and unique feature of handmade crystal.

“It is, of course, for me an absolute privilege to work with somebody that has perfected their art to the degree that Moser has.” Laurids Gallée.

The Axis Collection was inspired by the modern architecture of the early 20th century. The wedge cuts are its key element, placing extreme demands on precision; they must be etched with a tolerance of no more than a tenth of a millimetre so that the surfaces and angles connect perfectly. Only then is the unique visual effect complete. The wedge cuts create a strictly geometric shape that works with light, and any, even the slightest deviation, is immediately visible.

OndAli blends craftsmanship, sustainability, and individuality.

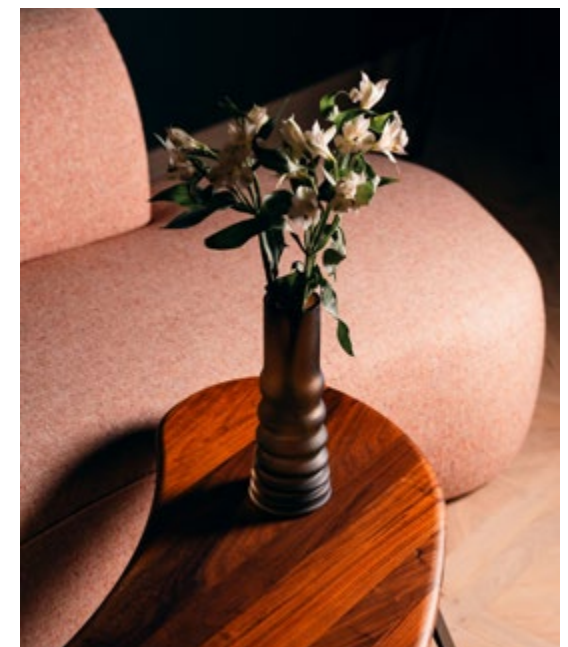

OndAli

Founded by Ondřej and Alice Brádka, the brand celebrates Czech artisanship, handcrafting each piece from natural materials with precision and care.

The current portfolio includes BUMPER, a sculptural crystal vase with playful geometry; H2O, minimalist wall-mounted crystal drops referencing the purity of water; A.D.V.T., a bold four-armed concrete candle holder with a brutalist aesthetic; Petroleum, a striking candle holder with a crystal “hat” and a concrete or wooden base; and the season’s highlight, HAPPY – a distinctive lamp combining a concrete body with a crystal glass head. All products are designed with attention to detail, crafted without series production, and feature carefully selected material and colour combinations.

OndAli stands for originality, playfulness, and pure craftsmanship, and all pieces are also available as 3D models for interior designers.

The Petroleum collection offers a minimalist reinterpretation of the traditional kerosene lamp. The sturdy crystal "hat" is hand-blown in several colour variations, with the option of hand-cut decor. The lamp base is available in either concrete or wood.

The BUMPER vase collection takes its name from its distinctive silhouette, where the body of the vase gradually compresses, creating an unmistakable relief inspired by movement and energy.

H2O Crystal Drops
Inspired by water and its movement, H2O crystal drops excel in a variety of configurations that feel almost limitless.

Weaving the Future with Tradition and Excellence

Since 1870, Weaving Kubák in Strmilov has represented the pinnacle of Czech craftsmanship and tradition. Founded by the great-grandfather of its current owner, the workshop has been passed down through generations of family dedication and expertise. This legacy is woven into every thread of household textiles, including blankets, bedspreads, tablecloths, and coasters.

The products of this workshop are made exclusively from 100% natural materials – wool, cotton and linen – with a particular emphasis on Czech wool, processed entirely in-house from fleece to finished masterpiece. Each piece combines superior quality, meticulous handcrafting, and the timeless charm of historical manufacturing techniques, performed on original machinery.

At Atelier Bohemia's showroom on Clerkenwell Road, designers, architects, and artists are invited to collaborate in creating a fusion of tradition and contemporary design. Together, they can weave something truly extraordinary.
